NEW YORK, April 8,-The police have been busy all day at the blackmailing case, but are very reticent concerning what they Voget, who was arrested last night and who is undoubtedly a prime mover in the plot, has been kept closely guarded and no interview with him has been permitted. It appears that Mr. Strasburger, the gentleman upon whom the blackmailers tried to levy $60,000 under pain of death or the abduction of his daughter, suspected Voget all along. Mr. Strasburger came over from Europe several months are, and Voget and Linders family. I met Sate and I ment and Europe several months ago, and Vogel was a passenger.
